MEDICAL SOCIETY ENDORSES PLANNED SHRINE CAMPAIGN

Physicians Over The County Gathered On Monday

RESOLUTION IS SENT TO PUBLIC

Necessity Of Success Of Drive Talked By Body

Hearty endorsement of the Shrine Drive for the raising of funds to provide an addition to the Benevolent hospital, was given Monday afternoon by the Morgan County Medical society, meeting at the Y. M. C. A., with Dr. F. L. Chenault, president, presiding. A resolution was passed unanimously, pledging support of the society and telling of the worth of the movement.

The gathering was possibly the largest ever held here, bringing physicians from over the entire county, each enthusiastic in entering the campaign that is to bring the Benevolent Hospital to the fore as an institution of mercy in this state.

The following resolutions were adopted:

We, the members of the Morgan County Medical Society, strongly endorse Benevolent Society Hospital's campaign to erect a new wing as an addition to the present institution.

The march of scientific progress has firmly established the hospital as the keystone of health in the community. No community is safe unless its hospital has beds enough to provide for all contingencies. Benevolent Society Hospital is so taxed for room, that frequently patients who need hospital care are turned away.

A maternity ward is an absolute necessity. Benevolent Hospital has none because the greater part of the institution must be devoted to cases requiring surgical treatment.

To date, Benevolent Society Hospital has been expertly managed, operated without prejudice, and open to all without regard to a patient's financial condition.

Its annual amount of free work makes considerable inroads into its meager income. The hospital, far from being a money making institution, is operated at a loss.

Its supervisors and nurses are a credit to the institution. The nurses training school is qualifying in expert fashion a small corps of students who will some day be an asset to the community as graduate nurses.

This community can achieve no greater accomplishment for its own advantage, than to bring about the success of the Benevolent Society Hospital Building Campaign.

The addition of the contemplated new wing will relieve the community of further burden for many years under normal conditions. The proper development of the children's nursery in addition to the contemplated complete maternity ward will be great factor in checking the abnormal infant mortality rate, which now menaces Tennessee Valley.

A child born with the right start has far better chance of growing into that strong vitality so essential in combatting infant diseases.

THE MORGAN COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY,

Dr. F. L. Chenault, President.

Dr. H. C. McRee, Secretary.

The County Medical Society further offered its services as a body in the capacity of advisory council to the campaign. A sub-committee of doctors was formed to aid the campaign Director in the organization of outlying districts.

Muscle Shoals Issue To Break Out Wednesday

CITIES HONORING ROBERT E. LEE; THE FINEST SOUTHERN

Reverend Edwards Is Principal Speaker To Students

LOCAL BANKS ARE IDLE FOR THE DAY

Pastor Applies Life Of Leader In a Modern Way

Commemorating the birth anniversary of General Robert E. Lee, the South's greatest leader, schools of these cities today were observing the southern holiday with appropriate exercises. Banks in the cities were closed. Reverend Noble R. Edwards delivered an address at the chapel exercises of the Decatur High school during the morning hours, followed with a story of the school situation in Alabama, by County Superintendent E. L. Hays.

Rev. Edwards took as his subject, "The Life, Character and Influence of Robert E. Lee," contributing a strong address, a lesson that was appreciated by the students of the high school and visitors who looked forward to the program.

The pastor dealt with the life of Lee as a lesson to school children. He placed his subject under three appropriate headings. Lee, the Man, Physically, Mentally and Spiritually.

He showed the correlation of the phases of character, the development of the man, the influence of early life and home training. Physical development, the pastor stated, contributed to the building of a strong body which later housed a strong intellect and an ability to lead, commanding the respect of his followers. Mentally, Rev. Edwards declared, Lee was prepared from early age to fill one of the greatest places and stations given by his beloved Southland, the leadership of the army of Northern Virginia. His careful preparation contributed to his leadership later in life when responsibility settled upon his shoulders. The effect of home teaching was spoken of in the spiritual development of Lee. The minister talked of Lee's frequent pleas to his Master and his rockbound belief in prayer. The address was thoroughly assimilated by the school children, offering as it did, a splendid lesson to the growing mind and body, an example to youth in preparation for the days ahead when the present generation must respond to the needs of the hour.

E. L. Hays, county superintendent, talked on the educational situation in the state, and in an impressive manner brought some of the great work of the day to the minds of those for whom the effort is being made. Patriotic songs concluded this service.

HENDRIX WITNESS BEFORE EXAMINERS

Local Banker Urges the Cotton Regulations Remain In Force

Clyde Hendrix, president of the Tennessee Valley bank, was one of the principal witnesses yesterday before the board of examiners of the interstate commerce commission, hearing in Montgomery the opposition of cotton and other business interests in the South against a petition to change the existing regulations requiring cotton be pressed at the first compress passed in shipment.

John W. Jones, another local business man, who accompanied Mr. Hendrix returned here last night.

It is possible that Oscar Wells,

Birmingham banker, and president of the American Bankers Association, will be one of the witnesses before today's session. Technical experts will appear also in opposition to the petition.

Following the conclusion of the hearing which was brought to Mont-

the examiners will make their report to the interstate commerce commission. The examiners will be aided by

SILK MILL ADDITION PROBABLY WILL BE CONSTRUCTED SOON

Plans and Bids Sent To Hoboken, N.J. Several Weeks Ago

ONLY PLANT OF KIND IN SOUTH

Has Been Worth Much To Valley Section As Advertisement

News regarding the expansion program of the Albany silk mill, only plant of its kind in the South, is expected to be received here within a short time from Hoboken, N. J., where the main offices of the company operating the local mill are located.

The proposed addition, which would be erected probably just to the rear of the present plant, and connecting with that structure, would be about half as large as the original mill and would provide for an increase of probably 50 per cent or more in the production.

Senator Heflin today notified the senate agriculture committee that tomorrow he would call up the resolution and press for a vote in committee. He declared that President Coolidge told a member of the committee yesterday that he had hoped prompt action would be taken on the resolution and he regarded the small congressional committee as the best medium for handling Muscle Shoals.

The resolution will be opposed by both Chairman Norris, author of a government operation power bill and Senator Smith, who has drafted a measure providing for experimentation on a gigantic scale by the government into processes for producing nitrogen.

Senator Smith was the author of the original resolution that started government development of Muscle Shoals and he declared the resolution dedicated Muscle Shoals to a national defense for the production of nitrogen for munitions and fertilizer.

There is no reason to change the purpose of Muscle Shoals, he added.

Liquor Seizure

Reported Today

County officials here today stated they had no details of a reported liquor seizure in the southern end of the county Saturday night, when it was said several gallons of liquor were taken after an automobile had been stopped by several bullets in a tire.

The officials stated, however, that a raid was made in the Somerville section and two men arrested on prohibition charges, after seizure of a little more than a gallon of intoxicants.

They believed that the reports covered two separate raids.

City Clerk Henry Hartung, of Al-

He urges that payments be made by additional penalties may be saved.

A NEW "aviation investigation" is ordered in Congress. It will be welcome, although this nation possesses little "aviation" to be investigated.

Perhaps congress will find what they have in the way of aviation, why those that control aviation do nothing about it, and among other things, send a Shenandoah, as a political advertisement, to be destroyed in a Middle West thunderstorm, against the protest of the Shenandoah's commander, one of the killed.

CONGRESS is puzzled by surplus farm products production. Some reckless Bolsheviks, or at least Socialists suggest that the government might interest itself in helping farmers market their surplus abroad.

Patterson May Answer Head Of Southern Later

EXECUTIVE'S REPLY SENT TO EDITOR OF MOBILE NEWSPAPER

Patterson Is Here To Be Present At Bank Conference

INFORMALLY HE GIVES OPINION

Question Raised Is Said To Be One Entirely Of Accuracy

Fairfax Harrison, president of the Southern railway, who recently was taken to task by A. G. Patterson, president of the Alabama Utility Commission, because of quoted statements said to have been made by President Harrison, in a Mobile address, has written Mr. Patterson denying that he meant any reflection on the Alabama commission.

President Harrison also denies he made the remark about "the thief in the yard" as quoted in the press. He adds that he has the highest respect for the Alabama commission and asserts that the Southern railway always has been shown every proper consideration by the Alabama body.

Mr. Harrison's letter to Mr. Patterson follows:

"Washington, D. C. Jan. 9, 1926

"Dear Sir: This morning I have your letter of January 4, referring to a speech I made last month before the Rotary club in Mobile.

"The success of the Southern in recent years has not caused me to go insane; on the contrary, it has humbled me, as I had occasion to observe to our officers only the other day, for I realize that that success is due to our fortunes falling in the era of the South's long delayed prosperity.

"As it happens, what I said at Mobile was not new. I have said the same thing in public several times elsewhere; but never before has any such interpretation been put upon it as that of the Mobile Register. Moreover, I do not believe that any member of the Mobile Rotary Club who heard me say it with any such impression of my "attitude," if I may judge from the sympathetic observations made by several who spoke to me afterwards. In this situation, I thought (and still think,) I recorded a comprehensive and sufficient detail in the premises in my letter of December 7 to the editor of the Mobile Register, which you say you saw, of which a copy is herewith enclosed.

"Neither the Southern nor I have ever taken any part in the politics of Alabama, and I do not intend that either of us shall now make a beginning in that direction, as your letter is apparently an invitation that we should; but, in order to keep the record straight, permit me now to say to you specifically, supplementing what I have already said to the Mobile Register, that I never made the remark attributed to me about 'some railroad commissioners'; indeed, I did not refer to railroad commissioners at all. My remark about the "thief in the yard," as it appears in the notes I prepared for my speech was commonplace enough, being as follows:

"The railroad is never forgotten. Everyone who wants money, from the highest to the lowest, the legislator planning taxes, the charity promoter, the city builder, the personal injury lawyer, down the scale to and including the mere thief in the yard, makes his demands on a railroad.

"May I add that I have only respect for the Alabama Public Service Commission and its members. I recognize that the problems of such an agency of government are close akin to those of a railroad manager.

OUR GOVERNMENT is so afraid of doing something "social-

Gossip of "Nimble Wit" Goes the Rounds In Railroad Circles

A story of how a railroader used his mind to meet an emergency was going the rounds in railroad circles today. It was said that sometime Monday members of yard crews in Bayview suffered the loss of their coats and it was believed they were obtained by hoboes in the yards.

During the latter part of the day, the gossip has it, a well known freight conductor saw several men standing close to his train, about to pull out. He believed they meant to catch the freight and he approached the men and let it be known to them that if they must ride, they might find an empty box car where it would be safer for them. The story goes that the men found the car, but soon found the door locked, and later found themselves in Oakworth the local yards, where they had to interview a special agent of the road.

The men were permitted to go, however, the story continues, but strange to say the Birmingham yardmen now are declared to again be in possession of their coats.

The Tri-State conference of credit men, embracing Alabama, Louisiana and Mississippi will be held at Mobile January 19.

Additional Space For Installation Is Needed Badly

Dr. A. J. Perollo, director of the Tennessee Valley laboratory, has notified the state laboratory to cease shipments of new equipment for the local unit, until such time as additional space is provided for storage.

Dr. Perollo explained today that work has not yet started on the additional rooms to be provided the laboratory and the Morgan County health unit. Shipments of new equipment have been coming in and all available storage space now is utilized. It will be necessary, he said, to find more room for whatever additional equipment arrives and it was thought best to hold the equipment in Montgomery for the time being.

Two more rooms will be provided at the present quarters of the health workers. The new space for the laboratory will permit expansion of that unit.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce of Opelika has instructed a campaign for better street lighting in the city. Plans of the chamber include the erection of white way post on several down-town streets.

Negroes Allege That "Red Tape" Is Being Employed To Keep From Voting

(Associated Press)

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 19.—Allegations of negroes that red tape is being strung in their way to prevent voting in Alabama, are today being probed by agents of the department of justice.

A storm long impending broke yesterday when Indiana Little was arrested when she attempted to place her name and those of twenty other negro women on the books of the Jefferson county registrar. A clerk in the registrar's office called a deputy sheriff and had the leader of the group removed, when she protested against the methods of qualification. The arrest of the woman brought to light the fact that federal agents had already called upon the registrar to explain the methods for qualifying voters.

Applicants are required to pass certain intelligence tests before they are qualified and it was this barrier that caused the disagreement with the group yesterday. It was said that the women claimed that the methods employed is "only red tape to keep us from voting." The women demanded their rights "as American citizens."

It was explained at the office of the registrar that all persons irrespective of race or color subscribe to the same form of application, some of the negroes who sought to register charged that white persons were not required to submit to the intelligence tests. It was said that a number of negroes had registered.

12 Years Ago From the Daily of TODAY January 19, 1914

Ex-Governor B. B. Comer spoke at Moulton today.

Dr. John S. Calhoun occupied the pulpit at the Westminster Presbyterian church yesterday.

Miss Willie Fiest Price was hostess at a birthday party Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. T. H. Anderson, of Florence, is a guest of Mrs. B. C. Bracken.

Times change. But a few years ago they spoke of the sunshine in Dixie. Now it's moonshine.

Another way to advertise a city is to invent a dance more freakish than others and name it for the city.

Local residents are showing their faith in the future of Albany-Decatur by building homes, local industries are showing their faith by spending money for improvement and expansion of their plants. That is a healthy sign.

What next? A Chicago dispatch says a Charleston clinic has been organized and dancers will be subjected to scientific study, to ascertain what effect the dance has on the health of the subjects.

A hick town is a place where bandits can rob a bank and get away in a cheap car—Des Moines News." We have heard Chicago called everything else, but it is the first time we knew the Illinois metropolis was a hick town.

"Irving Berlin's chief worry may be to find a word that rhymes with father-in-law.—Chicago Daily News." Without detracting in the least from the romantic side of Irving's marriage, we are confident he already has discovered that "money" and "honey" rhyme quite well.

The American public is increasing its demands for telephones, statistics show. During the five years to September 1, 1925, the population of the country increased only 7.2 per cent, while the number of telephones in service, during the same period, increased 26 per cent.

The people of the South cannot afford not to raise the funds to complete the Confederate memorial at Stone Mountain. As yet Albany and Decatur have not completed their full part. That is another New Year task for the Twin Cities.

We did have an idea that the Tennessee river rather belonged to Alabama and Tennessee, but it appears from the complexion of the delegations appearing before the Norris committee in Washington that the Tennessee is the league of nations in the waterway world.

Dothan announces plans for a new 12-story hotel, a 10-story building recently was finished in Tuscaloosa, a real estate boom is said to have hit Mobile and other gulf coast cities. Alabama rapidly is eliminating any doubt which might remain that this state is destined to be the greatest in Dixie.

Much as some of the members of congress would like to have the attention of the public directed away from the Muscle Shoals offer of Henry Ford, they seem unable to accomplish their objective. Ever so often something crops up to remind the congressmen of their stupidity in neglecting to accept the offer when they had the opportunity.

The United States attorney at Mobile says that area is drier than it has been in years, thanks to prohibition enforcement. Birmingham reports 55 arrests on charge of drunkenness on the anniversary of the passage of the Volstead law. The Age-Herald declares "The country is dry, say the drys. The country is wet say the wets. Every body ought to be satisfied."

Just a few years ago organizations were working for a north-to-south highway through Alabama. Then the Bee Line highway came into existence. Highway maps show this road is being completed throughout the state, including a bridge across the Tennessee river here, yet there remain a number of citizens who profess to see nothing whatever accomplished with the $25,000,000 good roads bond issue. Who are so blind as those who will not see?

What effect on business does the telephone greeting have? Strickland Gillilan, poet and humorist, writing in Printer's Ink, declares that gruff answers by business house employees to telephone inquiries cost many establishments many sales. He insists that an employee who answers with a surly "Hello" would be the first person he would fire, if he were in business—which he is not. He takes the position the "voice that answers the telephone call may belong simply to the employee, but to the caller it is the voice of the firm."

Edward S. Jordan, president of the Jordan Motor company, speaking at the annual dinner of the Society of Automotive Engineers, furnishes a new light on the subject, declaring the world awaits an aluminum alloy which will be cheaper, lighter and better than steel. He added:

"If Germany beats America to the production of this metal, the world will pay the German war debt 100 times over. President Atterbury of the Pennsylvania railroad, has said that such a metal could be produced at Muscle Shoals and Henry Ford is the man who has the courage, the vision and the capital to do it."

DOES ADVERTISING PAY?

Clarence Sounders took an idea and advertised it, making a fortune. Losing that fortune, he took his name advertised it, and seems well on the way to another fortune. Yet there still are a few individuals who cannot make up their mind that advertising pays.—Albany-Decatur Daily.

It does seem those who are yet unconvinced regarding the returns from advertising, properly planned and put into execution, are fearfully backward in their ideas. Would William Wrigley, Jr. deliberately throw away a million dollars a year simply for the privilege of doing so? Does the management of the American Tobacco company waste $1,700,000 annually when the money is spent for advertising?

Last year when The Standard Oil company, of Indiana, expended a million and a half on advertising, were they merely on a spending spree? Are great executives of great industrial concerns squandering the stockholders' assets when they make provisions for the advertising campaigns?

The Victor Talking Machine company, with an advertising appropriation of $1,500,000; the Calumet Baking Powder company, with $1,200,000; the United States Rubber company, with $1,100,000, and the Liggett and Myers Tobacco company, with $1,000,000, are not experimenting. They know the value of advertising, and it is worthy of note that every concern mentioned above is the leader in its particular field. Then why should a merchant doing a retail business under very competitive conditions close his eyes to the success of others, who evidently know more about the success to be derived from this expenditure? Advertising is not an expense; it is an investment. When C. W. Post, originator of Postum and Post Toasties, fancied his product, he immediately started to advertise it. He often said himself, the first million dollars he got, he put in advertising. The returns proved to be ten-fold. Post started with an idea and a few dollars. The great Postum company today is valued at a hundred million dollars. Yet, with the light before them, even now there are some who are heard to say they can't afford to advertise.—Opelika Daily News.

SHERIFF POOLE'S MOVEMENT WILL HAVE THE SUPPORT OF MOST GOOD CITIZENS

The movement inaugurated by Sheriff Poole to eliminate the sales of cigarettes to minors in Morgan county will find much support among citizens who have become alarmed at the increasing number of smokers among the youngsters.

The Alabama law which prohibits the sale of cigarettes to minors, has been in effect many years, but like many other statutes, it has fallen somewhat into disrepute, and apparently little effort has been made lately in any part of the state to prevent the sales of the weed to persons not entitled under the law, to make such purchases.

The more temperate opinion in this country finds very little fault with the smoking habit, despite the sporadic efforts of various organizations to stop the sales of tobacco entirely. Nearly every one realizes that the smoking habit, if carried to excess, is much like any other habit—it then becomes harmful. Most physicians now take the view that temperate smoking, while not beneficial, is less harmful than many other habits which people seldom complain of.

Smoking by young people, still in the adolescent stage, however, is an entirely different matter. Medical science tells us and common sense warns us that smoking is harmful, probably very harmful, to children at ages earlier than the age at which they reach their full physical development.

There probably is no way by which an occasional cigarette can be kept from coming into the hands of young boys, or even young girls, but there is a way by which a good many of the sales of smokes direct to these youngsters can be stopped. If the dealers will lend to Sheriff Poole their full co-operation in enforcement of the law against sale of cigarettes to minors, they will have rendered a real service to their state. It may cost them a few pennies, at first, but they will be rewarded in a happier and healthier citizenship a few years hence.

CORELATED CHARITY PLAN RECEIVES ENDORSEMENT OF THE PASTOR'S UNION

The effort being made by the Kiwanis club to effect the correlated charity plan in the Twin Cities is a splendid movement, The Daily believes. As this newspaper understands the plan, it is a modification of the community chest idea, with the exception that no money actually is handled by the central committee.

The Daily, several times before, has argued that the local organizations adopt some plan, whereby so much of the duplication in relief, would be eliminated. The correlated plan, as suggested to the club and adopted by the Kiwanians, seems to bring about this greatly to be desired result.

It has been estimated that in Albany-Decatur it requires $3,000 to actually accomplish $1,000 relief work. This is not because there is a tremendous overhead, but it is because so many citizens and so many organizations are interested in relief work, that duplication crops in and some worthy people receive more than their share, while others perhaps just as worthy fail to receive their proper ratio.

C. J. Randolph, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., has been named by the Kiwanis club as chairman of their organization and it is believed that the secretary will be able to "put over" the movement. Certainly he is deserving of the unfailing co-operation of all individuals and all organizations here.

In passing, it might be well to give the people some idea of how the plan works out. It is suggested that when an individual, or an organization, hears of a worthy case, and before relief is offered, that the central committee be communicated with in order that it may be ascertained whether or not some other individual or organization is looking after the same case. The central committee, The Daily understands, will keep a record of all cases handled, so the matter of communication and check should require but a few minutes and the person or persons desiring to extend relief will discover in a moment whether they are duplicating some other work.

The relief problem which worries all communities, and especially those which are growing communities, and Albany and Decatur must solve it here. The correlated plan appears to The Daily to accomplish much toward this solution.

COZY CORNERS IN CAFES ARE BANNED

Decree Written Today By Commission In Birmingham

(Associated Press)

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 19.—There will be no more private dinners or parties in Birmingham restaurants or hotels, unless the participants stage the affairs in rooms containing not less than 140 square feet of floor space.

This decree was written in an ordinance passed today by the Birmingham city commission. The commission was advised by the city attorney that such a statute was legal.

Action of the commission followed agitation which arose since the masked raiders had visited several downtown restaurants on January 2, searching patrons and demanding of proprietors that private booths be removed. Four members of the raiding party were convicted and now are under sentence.

istic" that it doesn't do anything except let the farmer shift for himself.

The United States government has all it can do to take care of railroads and other really big financial organizations.

MOTHER NATURE supplies the human race with infinite variety. In Venice, there is skating on the canals, gondoliers are taking a rest. Rome is sweltering in unusual heat. And on far off "India's coral strands" the natives are hurrying back to witchcraft, magic, etc., to drive away the evil spirit, at present causing an eclipse of the sun. All the earth's inhabitants, Christians included, once acted in an eclipse as the natives of India do now. So let us not mock them, in our new found science.

C. M. SCHWAB, who builds battleships, skyscrapers, automobiles, or what-do-you-want, says:

"There never was a war that did not commence with selfish trade motives at the bottom of it."

He adds, "there will never be another great war like the last one."

Never is a big word. Mr. Schwab knows that his description of war applies to relatively modern war.

WHEN Alexander took his thirty thousand Macedonians, long lances and his "hedge formations" now used in college football, and went against Persia's millions of men, and long rows of fighting elephants he had no selfish trade motives in his mind.

Taught by Aristotle that ambition is the great thing, he went to make himself greater than his father Philip. About all he did in the way of trade was to collect specimens for Aristotle's natural history studies and ship them back to Athens.

He was a grateful pupil, as every man with a good teacher should be.

ANY Southern state joining the hue and cry in favor of the world court should think this over. One of the first matters taken up by that world court would be the question of collecting cash for bonds sold in Europe by the Confederate states during the Civil War.

EUROPE says "if you ask us to pay what you lent us in our war you ought to make your states pay for the bonds that we bought in good faith in your Civil War."

Any Southern congressman voting for the world court will vote for the world court that will try to collect those Southern bonds.

COMMENDATION OF SHERIFF IS GIVEN

Several Thank Official For Banning Sale of 'Cigs' to Minors

Several persons today had communicated with Sheriff C. E. Poole and commended him on his announcement that enforcement of the state law against sale of cigarettes to minors will begin in Morgan County.

It was understood that many dealers also have expressed their desire to co-operate to the fullest extent with the sheriff in enforcement of this law and it was believed that little difficulty would be encountered in materially cutting down the sales of the prohibited smokes to persons of tender ages.

It was pointed out that only by co-operation of the dealers can the law be enforced to the fullest extent and Sheriff Poole again today expressed the hope that the dealers all over the county would recognize the benefits to be derived by preventing the sale of cigarettes to persons not entitled to purchase them.

today by the war department board of review insofar as legal aspects of the trial are concerned.

The trial with the board's report will be forwarded probably in the next day or so, to the judge advocate general of the army and after further examination by him will be started on its way through Secretary Davis to President Coolidge.

It is within the President's power to commute all or any part of the sentence. His subordinate advisor, may recommend only and neither Secretary Davis nor General Hull have given any indication of what their recommendations will be.

portant question that our own courts can't settle or that we won't submit to a foreign court? Mexico says defiantly to this huge country "In matters affecting Mexico you must come to the courts of Mexico." Why does the United States need foreign help? Washington did not need it. He did not have 15,000,000 people back of him, or 5,000,000 either.

CLUBBER KILLS SEVENTH VICTIM

Woman Is The Fourth To Be Attacked By Maniac

(Associated Press)

TOLEDO, Jan. 19.—The body of Mary Handley, 42, seventh victim of a "clubber" in Toledo in less than a year, was found early today in a yard next to her home. Her head was crushed and she had been gagged with strips of cloth torn from her clothing.

Bloodstains on the sidewalk indicated that Miss Handley had been attacked there and dragged into the yard. The body was found by Mrs. Mattie Sturrell when she started her daughter to school today. It was covered with a raincoat.

The scene of the tragedy is in the heart of the district where the "clubber" operated a few months ago. Miss Handley is the third woman whose death is attributed to the "clubber," four women having been injured by the maniac.

Miss Handley had been away from her home since Sunday morning she had gone on a trip and was expected to return Sunday night.

(Associated Press)

TOLEDO, O., Jan. 19.—With the finding of Miss Handley's body, fear of the "clubber" again spread throughout the city and the authorities renewed their efforts to find the man who had thrown terror into the hearts of Toledo women during the past few months.

A reward of $1,000, offered by the city council several months ago, after the death of the second woman, still stands.

During last September, October and November, the police received almost nightly calls from various sections of the city, reporting renewed attacks by the "clubber." On investigation, however, many of these were found to be erroneous, many women having imagined they had seen "the clubber."

HARTSELLE LODGE INSTALLS OFFICERS

Enthusiastic Meeting Is Attended By Local Pythians

The Hartsville Knights of Pythias lodge last night installed officers for the current term at an enthusiastic meeting, which was attended by a number of local members of the lodge. Several addresses were made on the good of the order and the rank of page was conferred on a number of candidates.

Following the business session, the visitors were entertained by the Hartsville lodge at an oyster supper. The attendance at last night's meeting was large and enthusiasm for the organization ran high.

Petraethyl Gas Is Given Approval

(Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Commercial gasoline, containing petraethyl, is not a hazard to the public health and there is no reason why its sale should be prohibited, under proper regulations, Surgeon General Cummings, of the public health service, was informed today by a committee appointed to study the subject.

The investigation was ordered by the Surgeon General last May, as a result of the death of five workers at Tye Bayway, N. J., plant of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey.

The report of the committee was based upon a study of 250 individuals exposed in various degrees to the exhaust fumes of the gas, and who had handled and distributed petraethyl gasoline.

Miss Helen Bynum of Courtland is visiting Mrs. R. N. Harris.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Knight spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hammerly in Tuscaloosa.

Mrs. C. K. Lide and granddaughter Caroline Jones who spent the past month with her daughter, Mrs. Wallace Carson in Atlanta, Ga., are expected home about the first of February.

Mrs. Sam Frank is visiting her mother, Mrs. Sam Schulman in Nashville, Tenn.

Unconsciously she stiffened in her chair. But Eggleston spoke calmly:

"I have forgotten to present Mr. Brandon. He is very close to me. In a manner, and is interested in your extraordinary circumstances—or which I had told him. He begged me to let him pay you his compliments."

Brandon bowed, easily, his manner marking him immediately, in Joanna's mind, as one who could make devotion gracefully at any kind of feminine shrine. She reflected that he would be the sort that would dance well and say things that fitted the music.

"But I am going to ask Miss Manners if I may not do more than offer my congratulations," Brandon said, smiling down at her. "Perhaps she will allow me to help her draw her first check. That will be something I shall always remember—when Miss Joanna has taken her place among the hilltops."

battlements. Unconsciously she stiffened in her chair. But Eggleston spoke calmly:

"I have forgotten to present Mr. Brandon. He is very close to me. In a manner, and is interested in your extraordinary circumstances—or which I had told him. He begged me to let him pay you his compliments."

Brandon bowed, easily, his manner marking him immediately, in Joanna's mind, as one who could make devotion gracefully at any kind of feminine shrine. She reflected that he would be the sort that would dance well and say things that fitted the music.

"But I am going to ask Miss Manners if I may not do more than offer my congratulations," Brandon said, smiling down at her. "Perhaps she will allow me to help her draw her first check. That will be something I shall always remember—when Miss Joanna has taken her place among the hilltops."

Dazed again by the imminence of

"You mean that after awhile he will give me directions?"

"Not at all." And in the tone of the banker's promise, more than in his words, Joanna knew that whatever might be the outcome of this fantastic conversation, she would not need ever to ask that question again.

"If your benefactor has directions to give," Eggleston went on, with the banker's manner of monotonous dwelling upon the detail of a financial bargain, "they will be given the bank, and will have to do only with additions to your funds, or the cessation of them. At any rate, the present deposit of one million dollars, which includes securities we shall be glad to negotiate for you should you require the cash, is at your disposition and none of it may be withdrawn from you. It could not be, in any event, as it has been completely transferred to your account. You must accept it, to do with it as you will. You will not be asked for an accounting."

"And it's really true that I don't have to go back to the silks? To my job at the store?"

Eggleston's smile was quizzical. "I should be rather astonished to know that a young woman with a million dollars in the bank's vaults was concerned as much with the selling of silks as the buying of them."

"Joanna nodded. "If I had a million dollars you can bet the last shot on your hip—I mean you can bet I'd do a lot of buying, all right!"

"I wouldn't wonder!" Eggleston commented, shortly. Joanna looked up at him quickly, detecting the hardness in his voice. "Oh," she assured him gravely as if to defend herself against his implied disapproval; "I wouldn't put it all into dancing pumps, you know!"

The girl floundered. She'd never thought much beyond dancing pumps and their kindred things.

"What else, then?", Eggleston repeated.

There was nothing for Joanna to do but fall back upon her subterfuges. She had many subterfuges. They covered a multitude of a girl's needs nowadays.

"Wait until something like what you're kidding me about really happens," she said, at last, brightly. "Then watch me!"

"Perhaps that will be the better bargain," the banker agreed. His voice still hard in the unpleasant way the girl didn't like so well. He pointed to the opened check book which lay forgotten at her hand. "It will begin to feel real, won't it, when you have filled out one of those?"

The girl's wits swam again. She picked up the book of long, slender leaves, and examined it curiously. Here, at her finger tips, would be the test—the test of the impossible dream: these two old men, her employer, Graydon, and his friend, Eggleston, were pulling her into. She clutched at an obvious excuse to postpone what she was convinced would be the tumbling down of the house of cards that was being built for her.

Lady Says She Took Cardui and Never Saw Such Improvement—Was So Weak Couldn't Stand.

Weathersby, Miss.—Mrs. James M. Hall, of this place, writes that she was "getting weaker all the time" when Cardui, the woman's tonic, was first brought to her attention. After she had taken Cardui a while, she writes that she "never did see such an improvement."

"I suffered all the time and had pains all over," says Mrs. Hall. "I was so weak I could not stand. My skin was cold and flabby. I did not have any color. I had always been a very active woman—used to outdoor exercise, walking and going where I pleased, and to get down, not able to get myself a drink, was indeed a hardship."

"Nothing seemed to help me, till I began on Cardui. The first bottle seemed to strengthen me, and I sent for five more. By the time I had taken these, I was on my feet, going around, doing my work, gained in health and strength."

"I took two more bottles, and I am well and strong. Can work my garden. I haven't had any more sickness."

INCOME RETURNS DELAYED THIS YEAR

Snead Advises That Payers Assemble
Figures Now

Heretofore taxpayers have been urged to file their income tax returns early. The filing of returns this year is delayed, pending the enactment of the new revenue act now before the senate, which as it passed the house, contains changes in regard to rates and other features. However, there is nothing to prevent a taxpayer at this time from closing his books and computing his net income. Such computations will not be affected by any provisions of the new act. The actual preparation of the return itself, after the computation, requires, in a majority of cases, but a few minutes. Therefore, it is advised that all figures and data be assembled, pending receipt of blanks by taxpayers. When released, blanks will be sent to taxpayers and also may be obtained at the office of collector of internal revenue, W. E. Snead, Birmingham; Ala.

Forms 1099 and 1098 used for making information returns, are now available at offices of collectors of internal revenue and branch offices. Such returns are required of persons "in whatever capacity acting" who made to a single person during the year 1925 a payment of $1,000 or more, or to a married person a payment of $2,500 or more. Such payments include salaries, rent, interest, or other fixed or determinable gains, profits and income."

Collectors of Internal Revenue are not authorized to receive information returns, which should be addressed to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Sorting Section, Washington, D. C.

MATLOCK STARTS STORE EXPANSION

Will Extend Present Quarters Back To Alleyway

Work will be started immediately upon the enlargement of the quarters now occupied by Matlock's Cash store, it was announced today by J. P. Matlock, proprietor. The present building will be extended back to the alleyway, running north and south back of Second avenue, making room for ready-to-wear and men's clothing stores.

Mr. Matlock stated today that this is the second expansion of facilities he has made since coming here seven years ago. He was first established here in March 1919.

That portion of the building now occupied in office space and millinery displays will be torn away, it was stated and the entire first floor space utilized. The store was first started with a 25 foot front, increased to 50 feet a year after starting business. The expansion does not include extra frontage, but consists of an increase in the depth of the establishment.

Demon Of Swat Predicts His Greatest Year In Bip Tops; Reduces Waistline

"Now that I have reduced," opines the jovial Babe Ruth, "now that I am mere skin and bones, tipping the beam at the lowly amount of 215, I look forward to my greatest year." "I'll carry off bludgeon honors, I will. I'll make others ashamed they ever picked up a war club with the intention of hitting more than an infield hopper. "I'll play square with my managers, promise not to talk back to umpires, present the pleasing side of my personality to the stands whether on foreign or home soil, in fact I am ready to embark upon the greatest year of my baseball career."

Such talk can be imagined from the Behemoth of Swat, as he rounds into form and strains at the leash winter has provided for the next two months.

The Babe is talking loud and long, possibly he has over indulged in new year's resolutions, maybe he is sorry at any rate he is talking about what he is going to do. Combining ability with determination is a quality that the Babe has, he has sent many a sterling hurler to the showers with a four-ply whack which resounded all the way from the ball park to streamer headlines on the sporting pages next morning. He can talk all he wants to, he can afford to.

Fans over the nation will watch

Babe Ruth this year through suspicious eyes. If he gets a good start he will regain his old place on the front pages and in the hearts of fandom.

He failed last year, miserably, he talked and that was all. This year he will have to produce the goods, else,

it is our guess that he will go through a process of expert canning, handled capably by a Yankee manager who has lost none of his pep for calling the Big Bambino to tow.

Sportswriters are with fans in hoping the Babe will regain his stride

he is the colorful figure of baseball

he provides more thrills in an hour than two six reel hard shooting westerns. When his sights are filed he busts 'em out of the park. When he is in good humor he is the idol of the kids, at all times he packs 'em in the stands causing glee on the part of his managers and club owners. It is hoped that his attempt at a comeback will not prove futile.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION
W. J. St. John
vs.
Ethel St. John
Circuit Court, Morgan County,
Alabama, in equity.

In this cause, it appears to the register, from the affidavits of complainant, that defendant Ethel St. John is a non-resident of Alabama, and that her residence and post office address are unknown, after diligent effort to learn the same. It is therefore ordered by the Register that publication be made once a week for four consecutive weeks in the Albany-Decatur Daily, a newspaper published in Morgan County, requiring said defendant to plead, answer or demur to the bill in this cause by February 4, 1926, or in thirty days thereafter a decree pro confesso may be taken against her.

This, January 4, 1926.

Night Coughing Quickly Stopped

Now Way Simple But Very Effective

Night coughing, with its distressing loss of sleep and dangerous saying of strength and vitality, can now be almost instantly checked through a simple but wonderfully effective treatment that is economical, too.

This treatment is based on the famous prescription known as Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs. For astonishing relief make this test tonight before retiring—simply take one tea-spoonful and hold it in the throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing it. The prescription has a double action. It not only soothes and heals soreness and irritation, but it quickly loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which are the real cause of night coughing. So with the cause removed, coughing stops quickly and you sleep the whole night through.

The Dr. King's New Discovery prescription is for coughs, chest colds, sore throat, hoarseness, bronchitis, spasmodic croup, etc. Fine for children as well as grown-ups—no harmful drugs. At all good druggists. Ask for

When winter's snow is falling outside—and the wind roars through the trees—when the friendly logs blaze up in the fireplace
—have a Camel!

WHEN it's a winter night and the day that was busy is done. And outside the snow is driving through the trees before the wind. When, inside, the crackling logs catch fire and burst into flames above the hearth—have a Camel!

For Camel is the tried and trusted friend of millions of experienced smokers. Whether your returning steps bring you home tired or jubilant, no sweeter, more mellow fragrance ever came to you from a cigarette. There's not a cigarette after-taste, not a tired taste in a whole country full of Camels. Only mild and mellow flavor, deep-down contentment in your home or any home where Camels are lighted.

So this night, before your roaring logs of oak or hickory—have a Camel. Open up the famous package of Camels and know the fragrance, the contentment that brings happiness to millions. Put a Camel between you and a light and taste the mellowest, most delectable blend ever made into a cigarette.

Have a Camel!

Our highest wish, if you do not yet know Camel quality, is that you try them. We invite you to compare Camels with any cigarette made at any price.

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co.

No other cigarette in the world is like Camels. Camels contain the choicest Turkish and domestic tobaccos. The Camel blend is the triumph of expert blenders. Even the Camel cigarette paper is the finest—made especially in France. Into this one brand of cigarettes is concentrated the experience and skill of the largest tobacco organization in the world.
